

WhatsUp User guide

WhatsUp is a service where any user can post and view small text messages (called annotations) linked to locations in the world. The service is public and every annotation created in the app may be viewed by anyone.

Choose to browse annotations on a map, or a list according to which annotation is closest to you. You will find out what's up in your vicinity, or post an annotation about events like parties, traffic jams or anything you may come to think of.

Distances in the list are according to your GPS location or any reference point of your choice.

What you can do

- View the map and load new annotations by tapping the refresh button.
- View a list with annotations near your reference point by tapping the list button.
- Create, change, and delete reference points by tapping the button with a crosshair.
- Create new annotations by tapping the add button.
- Logging in and registering by choosing Login/register from the menu or trying to create an annotation without being logged in.

What you cannot do

- Comment and rate annotations
- View and change settings
